

Estabrook, Concord, MA

A new 5500 sq ft woodframe house built on a steeply pitched site in Concord.

The living space is spread over four different floors taking advantage of the topography for views and light.

The active living and kitchen spaces are oriented toward a sunny yard that is enclosed on three sides with landscaped sloping hillsides and stone walls. Access into the house off of the parking court is gained through a covered front porch. The exterior color scheme of the house is intended to tie the structure into the nearby woodland setting.

Builder John Pierce
Landscape Design Elizabeth Morss

